Romeo Lucioni

The art-therapy-expressive ones are dominated by a sort of Mystery that becomes a "factor of the reality" in the dynamics of the relationship, of the creativeness and of the development of the imaginary.

The Mystery gives meaning, thickness, density and value to the experiences in which the emotional and affective life wealth of the meeting and the relationship expresses the desire to discover in the Itself the sense of the growth, of the becoming, of the integration, of the ideality, of the subsidiarity and of the transcendence.

In the practice of the art-therapy-expressive ones, the participants become "witnesses" and therefore you participate some Mystery, tied up in the search of a logic representational system that unites in the emotional answers, in the affective dynamics, in the search cognitive, intellectual, cultural and humanistic.

The Mystery concerns the tenderness, the joy, the extraordinary greatness of the love, understood as tymological value of the anything else other than it participates in the search that is to create bridges of agreement, moments of growth together, discovery of a destiny that asks for that human sense of the relationship in which it discovers him the Truth I give each, of the family, of the group, of the society.
